

Philips Case Study

Working towards an integrated IT landscape with CA PPM

About Philips

Royal Philips is a Dutch multinational technology company headquartered in Amsterdam.

Focused on improving people's health and enabling better outcomes across the health continuum from healthy living and prevention, to diagnosis, treatment and home care. Philips leverages advanced technology and deep clinical and consumer insights to deliver integrated solutions.

Making a difference to people's lives by enabling them to make healthy choices every day, and through conscious healthy behavior avoid illness. In recent years, they have largely reshaped the portfolio toward the healthy living and disease prevention areas of the health continuum.

The Challenge

The Philips IT landscape is defined by a range of standard tools and processes. These processes and tools are being deployed globally across all BU's: Ranging from R&D to University, Q&R and Supply chain.

In the beginning each BU worked with their own processes and tools. It was challenging to effectively manage teams that worked both intercontinental and cross organisational. Process harmonization and the need for an integrated IT landscape were the challenge at hand. APM can help you take the right decision for your organization.

The Solution

A programme was initiated to implement and standardize project management and the stage gating process with CA PPM as the resource management and project management tool.

As part of the entire IT solution landscape, CA PPM was integrated with various other business critical solutions such as SAP for financials.

The mission was to bring all the stakeholders on board: Everyone making use of the same process and tools in the way that was envisioned. "The same way of working, communicating and reporting."

The Business Value

The implemented solution provided:

1. More transparency and process harmonization
2. Significantly more accurate master data consistency across platforms allowing for better data data-driven decision making.
3. Ability to manage cross cross-organisational projects on a global scale.
